

Lyra – The Realm of the Archangels - Lyra Constellation

Lyra constellation lies in the northern sky. It represents the lyre, a musical instrument with strings used in antiquity and later times.

The constellation is associated with the myth of the Greek musician and poet Orpheus. It was first catalogued by the astronomer Ptolemy in the 2nd century.

Lyra contains Vega, the fifth brightest star in the sky and second brightest star in the northern hemisphere, and the famous variable star RR Lyrae.

Lyra represents the lyre played by Orpheus, musician of the Argonauts and son of Apollo and the muse Calliope. Apollo gave his son the lyre as a gift, and Orpheus played it so well that even the wild beasts, the rocks, and the trees were charmed by his music.

The Higher Angelic Realms -Lyra

“The stellar gateway or stargate system of Lyra is the cosmic doorway through which highly evolved beings enter our universe. These beings are commonly identified as Archangels. They coexist with us from realities of crystal and light sustained within the dimension of Lyra. This is the highest dimension within which a being can sustain physical form, though at this level of frequency this form is crystalline. In this reality beings sustain a fully formed Celestial Christbody and Consciousness.

These Archangelic being resonate an illuminated presence. Holding a vast amount of energy, they stand over 16 feet tall, and are made of the finest properties of crystallised light. They come through to our dimension to support the ongoing changes within the Global Grid Matrix (the crystallised light grid around and through the earth), facilitating the creation of the Christ Grid. Metatron resonates the frequency of light that emanates from this dimension. He is the Archangel that oversees our interdimensional interaction with these beings and their reality.

These beings were the founders of the many elemental and galactic races and worlds within the dimensions of Arcturus, Orion, Sirius and Pleiades, to whom the Earth and humanity are related. The Archangelic beings of Lyra created the genetic imprint that enables us to evolve through many realities and worlds, so we can eventually integrate with their consciousness. They were instrumental to the co-creation of our dimension and continue to energetically interact with us, dispersing their energy and consciousness into our world through the stellar gateway residing at the grid point known as Vega, the brightest star in the constellation of Lyra.

When the Earth was still forming, these beings filtered into our universe the frequencies that co-created the Global Grid Matrix, providing us with the technology and resources to co-create healing. They not only provide the resources for the evolution of the grid but are also instrumental to the creation of its interdimensional access points. These Archangelic beings also resonate the sacred knowledge of the Global Grid Matrix, which contains the technology of geometry, sound, crystals and light. They channelled this information through Thoth, so humanity could evolve in consciousness. Thoth, like Enoch, mastered physical evolution through the Earth and interdimensional realities. Eventually he reached a state of consciousness that enabled him to crystallise his body, allowing him to access and integrate an aspect of the Prism of Lyra. Thoth and Enoch continue to absorb light and knowledge, which is then dispersed to us through their sacred teachings.

Lyra is a constellation of stars in our universe, though it has a physical presence it exists also as a non/physical dimension

Message from The Lyrans

To the starseeds

We are the Lyrans and we are artist, painters, musicians and story tellers.

We are your fathers and mothers alike, from another universe and another space in time. Communication, in our society, is focused on feeling. So, we speak to you now, heart to heart, soul to soul. We speak in sound, we think in music. If you listen closely you will notice each living thing has a tone. So, does your heart as the heart beats in sync with Lyra. So, if you speak from your heart to ours we hear you in music. We can sing the song of your story as you, earth angels, are living art, living sculpture.

In order to accept communication of the heart, just imagine your bodies and the universe as one and the same as in the grandness that is you, every cell has an entire universe connected to it. We are regal, we are free birds as we are feline in nature. We have a certain, as they say "gravitas.: or grandness to us. We are fearless renegades as we bust through systems.

As for likes and dislikes; we are very responsible and though we do love all types of creative and sophisticated fun, we are not frivolous. Freedom is highly honoured as is individual expression. Our planets have pink and purple skies and cities and trees and parks.

We use crystals for health and technology and to bridge gaps to other dimensions and timelines.

We love raw beauty and we have inspired many of your historic era's. See, when humans are creative, they tap into our vibration, and so they plug into the All-That-Is.

.The Lemurians were direct descendants that you originated from. They will remind you of Greek Goddesses with empire dresses and colonial temples found in your culture.

They are soft and beautiful beings. The Roman empire, you could say, would be of Atlantean decent. On earth they were certainly were more tough and warlike, and this is the contrasting end of our spectrum.

In the end, understand, we are all one through feeling and creation. You humans were given the power of Gods, the power to create, and we are here to remind you of how perfect you are, there is no separation between you and the universe. Every energy point in your body connects you to a whole other dimension and world.

The heart leads to home and home for us is Lyra.

The heart is bridged by the throat and expression and while we are in a different dimension, you can communicate with us by just expressing yourself through feeling, we are closest of all when you are feeling and creating, as opening up the heart sends out very strong signals to Lyra. We do not shy away from feelings. We are in it to feel and experience everything in the universe with fullness and grandness.

We love to revel in, feelings, art, music, singing. And we certainly love music, that you already know. We have been putting out energies into the cosmos that have been attuning people in the world like a lyre. or the harp. like colourful strands of pink, gold, purple and green, all with a golden glow you are being tuned to be more in alignment with being multi-dimensional, that does not mean you are being tuned because you are not perfect, quite the contrary; what we want to tell you is that you are. You always have been. you came in perfect and you still are. There are a few new ideas and states of mind, we think are very important, that we want to introduce. most of them are entirely new concepts and we think you will find them very exciting. We are in great awe of you and your courage.

We have come down particularly to help our sons and daughters who are the sensitive spirits on earth, starting to remember Lyra, Lemuria and Atlantis. We have created a way via the prism of Lyra and through the recent eclipses, a way to import a lot of energy into the earth grids, it is done in a gentle controlled manner so that your physical body has time to absorb it. It has been pre-set that you came to earth to remember where u came from.

The energies are awakening your DNA. Once it is triggered, your body will unlock certain skills and run energy on itself. When that threshold is reached it will unlock more and grant more access to things you never ever thought were possible. remote viewing, telepathy etc..
And not in some vague way either.

What you will notice is people waking to remote viewing, and next level psychic skills all over the world, and it will shake things up. As your DNA awakens, the dimensions will be more in tune. The brain and cells carry a stubborn program, and as the human brain works in mathematical binary patterns of ones and zeros it can be tricky sometimes to deal with and not the most reliable. Luckily it is so that you do not need your brain to think, see or hear but rather you heart and ribcage

Once you have embodied your light body, you will return to the state of heaven, a state where u have a body but it is lighter and you don't have to eat as much or get sick as much. in order for you to gain access to all these skills, it comes with a responsibility.

This is why you have pre-agreed to put some sort of buffer zone, or a locked program on telepathy, etc. so that you do not come to a situation where you affect the earth in a counterproductive way. We would not call this ascension as you came in ascended.

Some archaic religious institutions merely keep you focused on the fact that you are not whole, not complete, that there is something to achieve, an energetic perfection. This is their true control system; to make you forget how loved and perfect you are. There is nothing you can do wrong.

Many of you are experiencing a sense of being in a time-warp, depressed or out of control.

In the grand stage of earth, the physical symptoms of the energies running are merely just symptoms of a rewiring of DNA programs as your light body integrates into your physical which in turn is tuning you to universal consciousness and vice versa. You may notice or have noticed anxiety, depression and a feeling of "i can barely take this". As you align these layers and awaken to your psychic gifts, which have been latent and definitely very rusty. Be patient. The brain is programmed to resist this with all force, it's in your DNA from many many generations of humans who were unawakened and were taught to fear their psychic gifts and talents. People who showed these gifts and talents were often persecuted at the say so of the Church and we hold an inherent fear of these gifts.

The hardships that come with this reactivation, will only be understood at a later time, but we can say that this will allow u to speak from a place of deep integrity, compassion and understanding.

In closing we want to once again thanks and acknowledge the Lyran starseeds, the sensitive souls, for the courage to come into this earth as a child, thinking they are still in Lyra. Yes, we are speaking to you, the Lyran original, for whom the earth can seem a very cold harsh place. We stand in awe at your courage. The memories of Lyra may awake in you. Have faith in your fellow humans. The generation of children, the Crystal Children, being born now will fully remember who they are as never seen before.

Your generation had a rough job. So, we want to assure you, that heaven on earth is possible.

Please know you can trust yourself, so trust your heart, no matter what society says or what the rules and norms are. If you are reading this, it means you are connected to us, it's the perfection of synchronicity, one of the rules of the fifth dimension.

You can trust the info given to you. As with a computer program and knowing what to expect when plugging into a "5th dimension " hard drive. when u plug into the 5th dimension, information HAS to be true, that is a galactic law. You need to know that you are here for a purpose, that you are wanted here.

Dear Lyran starseeds, it is hard for you to understand the concept of judgement, as you judge no one. You will give the last cloth of your back, as u stand in unconditional love for every animal and human. Garbage man or president, it doesn't make a difference to you, as you value people for their journey and see the beauty in them always, you see them for the light inside so love yourself too.

On Lyra, we feel each other's feelings as we feel our own and we respect each other. It is hard to imagine how one on Earth can hurt an animal, hurt a being. Nobody seems to judge your actions by their intent on earth, which is natural on Lyra, where any action is immediately taken for its intention, not the deeds or the words. A Lyran can feel the intent of any gift, present, words and actions by gauging the "heart" it was given with. So, the gift of a little old teddy bear with one eye, will be more valuable and treasured then riches since we can so clearly feel all the love that went into that teddy bear and the sacrifice and love it took to give it.

On Lyra, the territory of angels and archangels, we feel deeply. Compassion is the right word. Many Lyran starseeds came in, with that as their natural state and memory. They long for a place where everyone is honoured and respected, where nobody ever oversteps their boundaries as they respect exactly what your needs are. Your actions are never questioned, no matter what they are, because one trusts that you know yourself and trusts your integrity. If someone does something, good or "bad", its accepted that it was needed for all. Here on Lyra, we embrace the full spectrum, yes, we do, but we also like living in balance with each other, and let the excitement come from an outside source. Confrontation is very much not part of our society, as we honour balance amongst all things. We will speak in feelings this is the language of the heart, it is a unspoken form of communication and an important value which we lead our life with. We may even shed a tear or two while we do it. Don't let anyone tell you that being sad puts you in a lower vibrational state that cuts you off from spirit since tears, dear friends, are the way to the heart. The Grand river to the heart. And so, we want to correct this misunderstanding; when you are sad, or missing your passed-on family members, you are not dwelling in a "low" state of vibration.

Until humanity learn to shift to a different frequency and embrace multi-dimensionality, they won't see us. Remember, sons and daughters of the universe, don't shy away from the tears. When you shed a tear for us, we are closer than ever, when you are sad, we come to you right away. Soon you will be able to shed the heavy burden of your shoulders and unfold those wings on your back, earth angels, as we all carry the original Lyran imprint in our genes. Allow yourself to remember, as it will be the most beautiful gift you have ever given yourself. Sing the song of life, sing the song of love, sing the song of pain, and everything in between and let the tears flow.

You are never alone

The Lyrans